

A hand-drawn floor plan on grid paper. At the top, a horizontal line spans the width of the drawing. Below this line, a vertical line on the left and a vertical line on the right extend downwards. These two vertical lines are connected at the top by a horizontal line, forming a rectangular frame. In the center of this frame, the text 'BOX 12a' is written. To the left of the left vertical line, the text 'S.D.' is written. To the right of the right vertical line, the text 'CANTINA' is written. Below the 'CANTINA' text, there is another horizontal line. Below this second horizontal line, the text 'CANTINA' is written again. The vertical lines extend downwards past the second horizontal line.
